看似古旧的墙身其实是设计师刻意保留室内简约的原始气息。至于其他建筑材料则用上毋须特别打理的循环再造物料，保留纯朴的设计特色之余亦易于保养。高书架只有几步之遥的泳池，与宁静的阅读间形成了强烈的对比。

没有花哨的装饰，因为高楼层，简约布置才是真正的主角，把室内的空间感、照明度在修长的环境下发挥到极致。闲坐在这里的沙发上看书，透过分隔室内与室外的一堵巨大玻璃窗，你会有种时空交错的感觉。

书房

容易感染上书籍本身带有的文化感，而显得气质严肃沉郁。不过这间书斋，巧妙地接景于自然，置身其中，相当闲适怡然。

这是远在意大利威尼斯的一座楼房。设计以原始和简约为大前提，四周亦无太多装饰，材料也只用了混凝土和可循环再造材料。除了十分易于保养外，设计师的确另有目的：为了向窗外的大自然借景。更有甚者，书架旁竟有一个室内泳池，相信屋主一定是位动静皆宜的大富豪吧！

本期所介绍的书斋，不仅仅设计上充满妙想，趣味无穷。此外，这些书斋还有着一个共同之处，即把窗外的自然光线与风景，一并纳入室内的设计蓝图。这样一来，房间便可采集到充足的自然光，十分环保，又可增加室内的空间感，真可谓两全其美。■

he has mutually enriched life; close business partners; lifelong friends; family members; his wife and his daughters. Eugene aims to attend his daughter Gina's farewell party in September, but as his body fails, the trip to Prague becomes unreachable.

However, Eugene finds an inner light to match that of his dying days, which becomes a rallying call for all of us to worship life itself. In the postscript, his wife's account of the last moment of her husband lets us believe in a soulmate who brings happiness eternal, despite the limitation of time and space.

CASE STUDY

Easily affected by the cultural sensation imposed by row upon row of bound tomes, a study room can look overly sedate and solemn. However, if it is carefully conceived and put together, built with a view of nature, even if only the smallest of gardens, it becomes a perfect place not only for work but also for relaxation, as well as that increasingly rare commodity, solitude.

This house in Venice, Italy, is designed with great originality and simplicity, with surroundings to match the minimalist intent. Making use of concrete and reusable materials, the study is not only durable but also maximises the view out of the windows. The most stunning and surprising element is the indoor swimming pool next to the book shelves: it may well be believed that the owner is a tycoon who enjoys both play and reading time!

The other studies featured in the column are designed in a fun and thoughtful way, and so share something in common. They make maximum use of natural light and the landscape visible out of their windows. With their abundant natural light – essential if one enjoys reading – these rooms are also environmentally friendly, whilst never compromising on comfort or space.

MUSE LEADS THE WAY

A wide sofa in mottled red and brown, is separated by a white wall decorated with a honeycomb; men and women stroll between light and shadow, enjoying the DJ's drumbeat. The women's restroom leads to a see through lounge in the shape of a birdcage. Every wall and even the floors are mirrors, meaning the women must endeavour to protect their modesty – this is the Muse Club, the palace of goddesses where everyone is blessed with inspiration.

The overwhelming house music on the ground floor seems to have the power to manipulate everyone's body; the resplendent lights are even more dizzying than the colourful cocktails. A smaller hall, separated by a grand glass wall, plays hip hop, but before 10pm it is just a quiet little restaurant serving Southeast Asian fusion cuisine. Thanks to shareholder Garina Liu, the VIP club on the second floor is one of the best places for meeting the stars. The classical and luxurious interior is said to imitate Liu's bedroom! The club houses rooms that can accommodate up to 20 people, and guests can purchase cigars to relax and enjoy live performances by foreign bands.

Though there is no admission charge at the Muse Club, one should be prepared for a minimal expense of RMB2,000 - 10,000 on busy Friday and Saturday nights.
